

AN OASIS OF HERITAGE AND NATURE

Al-Ahsa, located in the Eastern Province of Saudi Arabia, is the world's largest oasis and a UNESCO World Heritage Site. This green marvel stands as a testament to human resilience, showcasing intricate gardens, springs, canals, and ancient architecture amid the arid Arabian Peninsula.

Al-Ahsa's 2.5 million date palms and crops like the rare Hassawi Rice -notable for its red hue and rich nutrition - make it an agricultural gem.

For travelers interested in history, nature, and traditional cuisine, Al-Ahsa represents a vibrant blend of culture and natural beauty that embodies the heart of Saudi Arabia's heritage.
